

Santa Barbara

CHARDONNAY

Santa Barbara County has long been known for its extraordinary conditions for growing certain wine grapes. The east to west valleys serve as weather barriers, allowing the fog and cooler climate to come in and keep the scorching heat and dry weather out. This allows time for the grapes to fully ripen over a longer period of time, which ultimately brings more complexity to the wine.

Our 2005 Santa Barbara Chardonnay first brings a hearty citrus flavor with grapefruit and tangerine. The layers that follow bring more of the tropical flavors with hints of peach, banana and mango. Upon finishing your glass you will find a smooth and bright ending, which is why we consider this to be a spectacular summer wine.

Enjoy this wine with a light and flavorful fish or pork dish.

"CHARDONNAY"

Here's my problem: to describe this wine, I have to use an over-used word.

Classic.

"Characterized by enduring excellence, appeal, and importance."

Yeah, that's it.
